

PATROLMAN VEON ARRESTED, RESIGNS POST

MINES TO WORK OVERTIME; COAL SUPPLIES SHORT

See That People Who Need Fuel Get It,"
Warns John Lewis

CONFERENCE ASKS FOR 30-HOUR WEEK

Northern Ohio Dealers
Begin Limiting Their Deliveries

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The United Mine Workers voted today
to allow all soft coal mines to work
overtime to take care of any coal shortage.

John L. Lewis, union president,
said operators should respond to
the decision by the miners "by seeing that coal reaches the people who need it most."

The present union agreement
calls for a 35-hour work week. Most mines ordinarily do not operate
beyond Sunday.

"The united mine workers do not intend to allow this situation to break down their agreement," he said.

Warning to Operator

"We don't intend to allow the
operator to work when he finds he can't sell a carload of coal to industry and then cry aloud that he has found a poor family that needs fuel to heat a home."

The convention started what officials expected would be its final action with a report from the committee recommending that
the officers make "every possible
effort" to get a 30-hour week in the next soft coal agreement.

The present agreement, with its 35-hour week, extends through March 31, 1937.

The committee also recommended that the international officers
negotiate the best contract obtainable, but made no specific recommendation for higher wages.

Approval of union demands in
the forthcoming anthracite contract negotiations also were recommended.

Buyers Limited

Many northern Ohio coal dealers
are limiting householders to one ton at a time today, hoping that
prospects of slowly rising temperatures, which promised the state
escape from the cold siege, would lead them to replenish their supplies.

More than a score of Cleveland's
smaller yards, and some dealers in Akron, Tiffin, Bucyrus, Ashtabula, Canton, Berea, Bedford and Elyria,
are restricting deliveries. Akron,
Cleveland and Columbus reported no
immediate danger of shortages.

Coal men in Salem emphasized
that it was not a serious fuel
crisis, however. Among the causes of the situation, they said, were
scarcity of coal cars and reduced
production at some mines.

Army Plans Largest Mass Plane Flight

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The largest
mass flight of army airplanes
made to overseas territory will be undertaken Feb. 21, the army
announced today, when 24 bombers
and pursuit planes will fly from Texas to the Panama Canal zone.
The distance is 1,900 miles.

Lieut. Col. Julius H. Houghton
will command the flight which will take off from Brownsville and fly
the Canal zone across Mexico, Guatemala and Nicaragua. The planes will augment the present
force of army planes now stationed
there.

WINTER BRINGS NEW SNOWFALL

Onslaught of New Cold
Wave Covers Front
Across Nation

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Winter renewed its onslaught today, bringing a new cold wave with heavy
snow to the Pacific northwest,
threats of new ice storms in the south and a continuation of
sub-zero temperatures in the cornbelt states.

The most dangerous flood conditions were reported in southwest
Alabama, but rivers in Georgia,
Mississippi, Tennessee and the Carolinas also neared overflow
stages. Threats of ice storms added
to flood fears at many points,
as hundreds were driven from their homes in near freezing temperatures. Rain and snow added to acute suffering. Ten deaths were counted in the southern states this week.

Saved At Steubenville

Rivermen rescued Mrs. Martha
Loy and 10 children from a house
boat near Steubenville, O., after
an ice jam on the Ohio river broke,
sending thousands of tons of ice
toward the craft.

Coal shortages continued acute
at many places and schools remained closed. Many railroads in the northwestern states continued
snowbound. One way traffic was resumed on some main highways,
but few secondary roads were reopened.

Confer On Blanks For State Relief

LISBON, Feb. 7.—Columbiana
county commissioners returned today from Columbus where they
conferred with officials of the state
relief department concerning the
new standard application blanks
which must be filled out in order
to receive relief money.

The commissioners were informed that the application which they filed two weeks ago would be considered official but that they must fill out the new form and forward it to the state office.

The new forms have not been received as yet nor has any relief
money been allocated.

Relief agencies throughout the county are this month writing orders which will not exceed 50 per cent of the January allocation. The February request for relief money
was $47,000.

Concert By School Band Is Success

Success marked Salem High school
band's first concert of 1936 when more than 400 people gathered at the High school auditorium last night to hear 50 selected student musicians present a program of marches, overtures and feature
melodies.

Included in the program was a
selection by the band's vocal trio,
Wade McGhee, Joe Pales and Charles Freed, and also entertainment by the High school's "Little German Band."

The band is under the direction
of Chester Brautigam, instructor at the High school.

Township Records In Good Condition

Fred W. Preston, state examiner, reported today that an audit of the records of C. S. French, Perry township trustees clerk, had proven
very satisfactory.

Preston also reported that the general affairs of Perry township
apparently had been administered
in a careful and economical way.

The clerk was in receipt of the
examiner's report on records of Justices of the Peace William Richards, J. Don J. Burcaw and T. R.
Whitney.

OIL CITY FIRM BUYS MULLINS BOAT MATERIAL

Purchases Inventory To Equip Plant In Penn-

$60,000 IS RAISED
BY NEW COMPANY

Boat Making Gives Way
To Other, Diversified
Production Here

The boat building business of
the Mullins Manufacturing Corp., abandoned approximately three
years ago, will be revived in Oil
City, Pa.

Business men of Oil City today
revealed they had subscribed more than $60,000 to organize a company
for the manufacture of boats, a small part of this fund coming to the Mullins Corp., in payment of materials and parts.

Ship Material

This equipment, which has been
in storage since active boat building was dropped at the Mullins
plant, is being shipped now to the Pennsylvania town to be used as a nucleus for factory equipment
there.

Up until several years ago, the Mullins Corp., did a rather extensive business in boats, but economic conditions brought about a desire to go into the manufacture of products that would bring not only diversification but also level off the production "humps."

For the last two or three years,
the boat division building has been used for the production of sinks, and
this program, plant officials
say, will be continued.

Former Exalted Rulers Honored In Elks' Program

Seven former exalted rulers occupied the chairs and gave brief
talks at the Salem lodge of Elks'
annual observance for its past
leaders last night.

A. R. Stark, who served as exalted ruler during 1913 and 14,
was the oldest of the past leaders
present at the meeting. Others attending were J. R. Kesselmeier, G.
K. Mounts, Clyde Bryan, D. S.
Montgomery, Jessie Dellenbaugh
and Arnold Lutes. Charles Irey is the present exalted ruler.

The past rulers aided in the in-tiation of one candidate during the meeting which was followed by a
lunch and a program of entertainment by a "Hill Billy" group.

THREE MILLION SLASHED FROM FINANCE NEEDS

Reductions Are Made In Assembly's 91-Million
Measure

DETAILED CUTS

'Serious Reasons' Prompt
Action, Governor
Explains

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Feb. 7.—The veto
ax of Gov. Martin L. Davey lopped
$3,000,000 today from a $91,000,000
revised budget bill to finance state
needs during 1936.

The governor in a statement said
the reductions were not made in a
"whimsical manner of petulant
mood but for the most serious reasons
that face the state."

Cuts Savings

Davey asserted that the cut
makes approximately $10,000,000
saved the state by the use of the veto power.

Last summer, the governor reduced the biennial budget bill by $8,785,000 by drastic slashes in appropriations for various state departments.

A special session of the legislature passed last month, after considerable wrangling, a bill carrying appropriations nearly $1,225,000

in excess of the amount left following vetoes in the original bill.

"After several days of patient
and careful work, with highly competent help and all the records before us, I have vetoed more than three million dollars out of the governor's statement said.

The detailed cuts in the revised
bill were not immediately available.
They were not listed in the statement and attaches of Finance Director Ray Allison's office said they understood the reductions had not been determined definitely.

Payrolls Held Up

Payrolls of many state departments have been held up pending
action by the governor on the budget bill.

Executive vetoes last spring
forced many departments to curtail operations and drew strong protests from Ohio State university, where appropriations were cut $1,500,000.

Describing state finances as "in excellent condition," Davey said
that "extraordinary demands, which
are essentially local in their nature,
present us with the real problem."

"I have been struggling to meet these enormous problems
without new taxes."

GIVE CONGRESS SOME BACKBONE

Political distortion accounts for the electorate's
neglect of congress as the real basis of the American system of government. Even before the frantic accumulation of authority and prestige in the executive branch undertaken by the Roosevelt administration,
the legislative branch had lost much of its rightful influence.

In the first two years of the new deal particularly,
congress virtually put itself under the control of the chief executive and his advisers. It ceased to do its own thinking, and most of its actions were directed
from the executive offices of the White House.
If congressmen needed proof that it was misled in many important matters it has the supreme court's decisions on new deal legislation to show that it misplaced its supine confidence in executive control.
Its own collective judgment would have been better
in most cases.

Unfortunately, the distortion threatens to continue into this year's national election. There is too much emphasis on the presidency, at the expense of proper attention to representatives and senators. It is a matter which affects both major parties equally.
Democrats and Republicans alike should become more keenly aware of the fact that a good congress
is infinitely more important than a good executive,
for without a good congress even a good executive is helpless.

Congress needs backbone, which means that individual congressmen must be selected on a basis of integrity and intelligence, rather than on a basis of agreement compliance with the views of whichever
minority happens to seem strongest at the moment.
If a majority of the members of the house and senate are able to think straight on the problems of government, their influence in Washington will be dominant.

The need is for congressional candidates who have a higher conception of a congressman's duty than that of a cog in a political juggernaut. The need is for congressional candidates too proud to sell their decisions for the salary of the office they seek or for the flattery of a minority. There still are limitless opportunities in America for genuine statesmanship. Congress still invites men seeking an honorable career in public service. The presidency is a symbol of power, but the power rests in congress—
in the hands of representatives and senators.

THE SECOND 25 YEARS

Perhaps the second 25 years of the Boy Scouts of America will be harder than the first quarter of a century. Last year's silver jubilee celebration, however, showed the S-outs that they will not lack for public support if they continue the same excellent work which distinguished their project from 1910
to 1935.

Approximately 7,000,000 boys and men have come under the influence of the movement. More than a million still are active. It is beyond dispute that the Boy Scouts of America has left its impress on the nation. More important than that fact is general agreement that it has been a salutary influence.

Scouting emphasizes personal honor, duty, helpfulness and mental, moral and physical fitness. The late Calvin Coolidge once said that "if every boy
in the United States between the ages of 12 and 17
could be placed under the wholesome influences of the Scout program and should live up to the Scout oath and law, we would hear fewer pessimistic words
as to the future of our nation."

Fortunately, there is no compulsion in the Scout organization. Those who are attracted by its principles may support it. To a considerable extent the future of the United States is made brighter by the fact that each year so many boys do choose to identify themselves with the Boy Scouts of America.

We suppose if the prevailing philosophy spreads to
the insect world, it will be a case of soaking the ant
to pay the grasshopper a dole.—Detroit News.

THE STARS SAY

For Saturday, February 8

According to the prevailing planetary influence of
this day, there is the prospect of a very radical change in the affairs. They lead to such adventures
and experiences as will affect the entire future
destiny and fortunes. These may take one far afield
and give opportunities little expected. New environs,
contacts and interests are involved, and though having a slightly unpleasant reaction on the personal
affiliations, this should not be permitted to interfere with such excellent prospects.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year
of excellent opportunity, with the prospect of an unexpected change in the affairs. These, besides up-
rooting present environs, interests and associations,
will have a radical influence in affecting the entire future life and fortunes. And while there may be some disquieting reactions in the personal relations,
yet the opportunity is one to be taken advantage of without hesitancy. Travel is involved.

A child born on this day may incline to unusual studies and adventures. These may favor it in employment and probably give it public position.

Ed Hattrick always looks as slick and successful as the Blue Train. Never saw a pipe smoker hurrying.
Beautiful lady: Mary Roberts Rinehart. Top in over-Niagara mustaches—Konrad Bercovici's. Funny word: Thwart. The new N. B. C. chief, Lohr, is an Albert Lasker protégé.

So the Lindbergh exile has been a Roman holiday
for the British press to hoot our criminal catching!
How about their Jack the Ripper? Always feel like tearing into one of those big pretzels on a stick. Two years ago in this column: "Blunder—radio overlooking Frank Pay.

Look alike: Valentine Williams and Charlie Falls.
Nobody can look so twittery as Queenie Smith. Or so complacent as Max Gordon. What a giddyap in Clem McCarthy's voice! Renaissance note: The dressy
Mrs. Harrison Williams in black sealskin.

When wider winged collars are made, Tony Biddle
will wear them. Statue in chalk: Eddie Duchin. Rose Wilder Lane has a made-to-order name for her rural essays. Study in perpetual motion: Bob Reud.
Crack after-dinner speech by H. G. Wells: "Holly-

pin of the snappy muffler wearers: Osgood Perkins.
Memory: High whale-boned lace collars. Window

Now and then I drop around to see Dave Levy. He's the affable manager of a flashy Broadway haberdashery and most of his years have been on that street. He was one of the regulars at the old Palace Sunday nights. Brushing disillusionments of a flagitious rue so long one might expect a cynical viewpoint. He has seen what looks real gold turn to brass with a few rubs but his own faith is untarnish-
ed. He believes that if one really looks for what his friend Damon Runyon calls "the real guys" one finds them.

The amazing success of the round and around
song again convinces Tin Pan Alley that the trick
tune with looney lyrics is the real money maker.
And an overnight ride to today fame. "Yes, We Have No Bananas!"—the famous Tad line—made a huge fortune as did "The Last Round Up." And what makes song writing such fascinating fabula for so many is that such fortunate composers are almost invariably recruited from ranks of the unknown.

There was a time when I used to knock around with the tune makers. And the lyricists. Not since have I run across more agreeable companions. Two are gone—Grant Clarke and Ballard Macdonald.
Some of the swiftest banter I ever heard was Clarke's.
Many gags attributed to his intimate, Wilson Mizner,
were his. Macdonald lacked the trigger touch in talk
but could write the most amusing letters one could possibly receive. I never met a gloomy song writer.
They are usually bubbly with a conviction the tune
they are composing is a smash. And Walter Pater once wrote: "To live on the edge of high hope in
only imagined expectancy is about as near heaven
as we get in this consciousness."

For a time, too, I did a bit of gong clapping for a music publishing house and spent an hour or so a day in the try-out rooms of those made-over brownstones. Perhaps two dozen pianos would be thumping away in the stall-like spaces, a jangle that would drive most folks mad. Harry Von Tilzer had just been eclipsed by Irving Berlin as king of the popular song, and lovable Charles K. Harris was still venerated for giving the nation his "After the Ball."
The song pluggers, too, were a rare study in high pressure enthusiasm and adept in exploiting the newest slang of the day.

Just as everybody some day tries to write a novel,
so is the writing of a song inevitable. My effort tried to halo the Ohio river with the same sentimentality
that Paul Dresser achieved with the banks of the Wabash. And just about then "The Beautiful Ohio"
waltz came out and made a sucker out of me again.

My disrespectful taxi driver, passing an extravagant waist-deep set of whiskers on East 59th street, revealed his mid-west origin. With a thumb-jerk toward the foliage, he turned and observed: "The makings are there, buddy, for a swell meadow lark
pie."

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

"Vaquez" Disease

WE OFTEN hear of persons having too little blood, but what about those having too much blood? We rarely hear about them. Yet there is such a condition, called "Vaquez"
disease.

A sufferer from Vaquez' disease
or "polycythemia," as it is sometimes called, has a ruddy complexion. That is the only sign at first.
In the beginning there is no discomfort and on this account it is often overlooked for a considerable time. As the disease progresses, the skin of the face, cheeks,
nose and ears take on a peculiar mottled appearance.

The patient begins to complain about difficulty in breathing and
a feeling of weakness after exertion. There may be vague neuralgic pains, besides the frequent attacks of mild digestive disturbance. Bleeding from the nose,
stomach and intestines sometimes
occurs.

In the more advanced stages,
the victim is listless and easily irritated. There may be numbness,
tingling and a burning sensation
of the feet and fingers. Sometimes the only outstanding symptoms are weakness, fatigue, headache, dizziness and fainting spells.

In this disease there is found
an excess in number of red blood cells. This may be as much as 40 to 100 per cent. The normal average blood count is around three and a half million red blood cells in each cubic millimeter of blood. In Va-quez' disease it may be as high
as six to eight million red blood cells.

Though the actual cause of the disease is not known, it is believed to be some sort of disturbance in the parts of the body
which manufacture red blood cells.
These are the liver, spleen and bone marrow. In Vaquez' disease
the spleen becomes greatly enlarged.

There is a temporary form of Vaquez' disease. It may occur
when the body loses an excess
amount of fluid, as in severe vomiting, diarrhea or excessive perspiration. In this type there is an increase in the number of red blood
cells, but the condition disappears
as soon as the equilibrium of the fluids of the body is restored to normal.

For many years little relief could
be offered victims of this strange malady. Today, beneficial results have been obtained by the use of
a restricted diet and frequent bleed-ings.

TAX BILL MAY BE KEPT DOWN

Measure Ready for Capitol Hill Is Placed At $500,000,000

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Major bills designed to avert any further reaction from the tax-paying and consuming public were introduced today as the government proceeded with its farm and business plans.

Senator Wagner (D. N. Y.), who has the support of other prominent Democrats, led a movement to alter the newest substitute for the tax bill in an effort to allay any apprehension that "scarcity" economies would be practiced.

No Bonus Taxes Democratic leaders were open to the possibility that the administration would not ask any taxes this year to finance the bonus. Thus the tax bill expected to be introduced to Capitol Hill next week would be largely limited to the $500,000,000 or $500,000,000 estimated necessary to finance the farm program.

The sentiment in Congress for the tax bill as small as possible is a campaign year became an insistent demand. The majority house steering committee on record, in secret session, proposed to new taxes now to pay soldiers' bonus of more than $50,000,000.

Chairman Sabath (D. Ill.) who closed the vote, said: "We understand the President has evolved a scheme by which we will find the money somewhere else." The Wagner suggestion gained support as the senate drove into the debate on the new farm bill which is being piloted by Senator Smith (D. S. C.) toward expected vote next Monday or Tuesday.

Senator Wagner wants to make it that a normal production and be chosen as the basis for taxes—not a period when crops are short. He seeks to "allay any apprehension that this is a program of scarcity."

93 Children At Fairmount Home During January

Fairmount Children's home at Fairmount was caring for 93 children during the month of January. The children were from various parts of the state and out of the home at the end of the first month of 1936, according to a report submitted by R. D. George today.

This number exceeds the total of Dec. 31 by only one. Although 12 children from seven families were added during January, 15 were closed during the same period.

Receive New Cases There were 245 children in the home at the beginning of the year. Fourteen new cases were received during the month and three children were taken back from outside homes. Fifteen wards were released from the home and six were placed, leaving a total of 241 in the institution Jan. 31.

There were 247 wards outside Fairmount home Dec. 31. New cases received in outside homes during the month were only two. Fifteen were placed out by the institution. Nine were discharged from the home by release and were returned to the institution, leaving 252 wards outside Jan. 31.

New outside cases and placements from Fairmount Home were placed as follows: free home, one; own home, one; boarding home, one; own home, eight; relative's home, two; and Molly Stark sanatorium, one.

The 252 wards outside Fairmount home are placed as follows: free homes, 26; wage homes, 31; boarding homes, 83; own homes, 57; relative's homes, 45; other institutions, one.

Awaits Operating Fund The home has not yet received appropriation for 1936. This is by the commissioners of Columbus and Stark counties jointly.

A request has been made for more from the Works Progress Administration for labor on the sewer and cottage repairing being carried out at the home.

Fess Threatens To 'Take a Walk' Over Borah Plan

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Grumblings in the ranks and another threat "to take a walk" came today as party chieftains sharpened their wits and words in the campaign for and against the New Deal.

Simon D. Fess, former Ohio senator and former Republican national chairman, hinted he may "take a walk" if Senator Borah (R. Ida.) becomes his party's nominee for the presidency.

Norris Hits Dual Role Senator Norris (R. Neb.) eager supporter of President Roosevelt, nevertheless hit again at James A. Farley's dual role as postmaster general and Democratic national chairman.

"A man managing a campaign ought not to be postmaster general," he said on the senate floor yesterday.

At far-apart points the administration was attacked by Col. Frank Knox, publisher, often listed as a Republican presidential contender; Senator Dickinson (R-Iowa) who also has been mentioned frequently as a possible nominee; and Jonett Shouse, president of the American Liberty League, at whose dinner table Alfred E. Smith uttered the threat to "take a walk" if the Democratic convention endorsed the New Deal.

Fess, announcing his opposition to Borah, declared the latter's nomination would "give new meaning to Smith's taking a walk."

Predicts Ohio Defeat He said his former colleague would go down to defeat in Ohio, but that he might get some delegates from the Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown area.

Fess said he himself would work for an uninstructed delegation to the national convention. (Borah is planning to campaign for pledged delegates).

"If you are going to vote for a New Dealer," said Fess in an interview, "why not vote for President Roosevelt? If the liability for the New Deal is to be placed anywhere, let it be placed on the Democrats, not on the Republicans."

He declared he personally admired Borah but was forced into conflict with him "because of his policies."

Norris emphasized that he would support the president in the forthcoming campaign.

Tax Violators

COLUMBUS, Feb. 7.—The first year's operation of the state sales tax brought convictions to 1,075 violators of the law, Division Chief R. P. Bartholow said today. Charges were filed against 1,356.

DAVEY SCANS COLUMBUS, Feb. 7.—Political observers predicted today that Gov. Martin L. Davey would have sharp cuts in the $90,213,000 revised budget when he finished work on it Saturday.

REVENUE DROPS COLUMBUS, Feb. 7.—Revenue from the sales tax has fallen below the million dollar mark for the third consecutive week.

State Treasurer Harry S. Day reported receipts for the week ending Jan. 25 totaled $764,602 and revenue for the first 25 days of this year totaled $2,958,737.

Seek Funds to Push W.Va., Tunnel Probe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Charging the builder of the Hawk's Nest tunnel in southern West Virginia with "grave and inhuman disregard" of the lives of workmen, a house labor subcommittee asked today for funds to complete its inquiry.

The report was made to the full labor committee by Representative Griswold (D-Ind.), sub-committee chairman. Besides an appropriation, power asked to compel officials of Rheinhart and Dennis Co., Charlottesville, Va., the tunnel builder to appear at the house inquiry.

The sub-committee said conditions prevailing during the tunnel construction in 1930 and 1931 resembled "a tragedy of the middle ages" which was "hardly conceivable in a democratic government in the present century."

3 Negro Murderers Pay Final Penalty

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 7.—Three Negro murderers were executed at the North Carolina state prison today, one in the electric chair and two in the gas chamber.

Will Long, 19, was electrocuted for the killing of Sam Minor, aged night watchman at a Burlington mill who was beaten to death in a hold-up.

J. T. Sanford, 30, and Thomas Watson, 32, of Durham, were then put to death in the gas chamber. They were convicted of the robbery and killing last fall of Nathan Malone, Negro taxi driver, at Durham. They were asphyxiated separately.

Ohio's Matrimonial-Minded Beauties Are Taking Advantage of Leap Year

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Feb. 7.—Ohio's matrimonial-minded beauties are taking leap year prerogatives and their constitutional right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness to heart.

County records show that hosts (or is it hostesses) of them have surrendered their liberty in favor of the pursuit of happiness—for marriage license totals are zooming.

Perhaps leap year has nothing to do with it—but the fact remains that in eight key counties 1,223 couples secured licenses during January of this year, as compared with 1,014 a year ago. Somewhere among that gain of 209 should be found several blushing brides who tired of waiting on some bashful swain, and "popped the question" themselves.

Only Richland county showed a drop this year, 25 marriage licenses against 39 a year ago.

"But that," said Ralph Hardy, the Richland county license clerk, "isn't surprising. It has been too cold for romance."

Jefferson county jumped from 28 licenses in 1935 to 44 this year. Sarah Malone, license clerk in Summit county, who issued 150 this year as compared with 120 a year ago, belittled the leap year angle.

"The depression is just about over and folks who have been putting off getting married have determined that conditions now warrant taking a chance," she said.

Games and cards were enjoyed at several tables. In "500", Ralph Peterson held high score for men, and Mrs. Thomas French for ladies. A lunch was served by the Odd Fellows.

SCIENTIFIC REPORT FAVORS BRAN

Relieves Common Constipation Safely

Read this statement, taken from an article in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association, pages 133-134, Nov., 1932:

"The inclusion in the diet of a small portion of bran . . . would seem a very practical way of getting fiber which is not likely to be disintegrated. This bran has the additional advantage of furnishing a considerable amount of vitamin B and of readily available iron."

Exhaustive tests, over a period of five years, have proved Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to be a safe, effective way to correct constipation due to insufficient "bulk" or fiber in meals.

It is accepted by the American Medical Association Committee on Foods for this purpose.

You will enjoy this pleasant way to prevent the dangers of constipation. You can eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream. Or cook into delicious breads and muffins.

Usually two tablespoonsfuls apiece daily are enough to protect your family from common constipation. How much better than taking pills or drugs!

Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Huge Bomber In Air With Wheel Caught
CONCORD, N. H., Feb. 7.—A big bomber, with two men aboard, sped today for Mitchell field Long Island, in an attempt to land after its broken landing gear prevented a landing here.
Army officers said they believed the ship had enough gasoline to make the flight to Mitchell field, although the plane had been in the air 5 1/2 hours.
The ship's landing gear failed to function here, one wheel remaining fast in its place while the other one swung down perfectly.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 7.—Unless some substantial evidence is produced, Prosecutor Donald Hoskins said today he would consider "as closed" any proposed inquiry of a Cincinnati pastor's charge Catholics "bought" a state senator's vote.

A Review of the Day's News

By Arthur Brishane

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.
THE YOUNG Duke of Marlborough, great-grandson of the original old Vanderbilt, is here, looking much like his grandfather, William K. Vanderbilt, and, like so many young Americans, taller than his ancestors.
He is "deucedly afraid of your terrible gangs over here," but brings his four children, Lady Sarah, Lady Caroline, Lady Rose Marie and the Marquis of Blanford, all on their way to visit the Duke's mother at Palm Beach.
Two had the original old Vanderbilt, who ran his boat from Staten Island to New York, could not see them. He would be proud, although he would not understand their conversation.

THE ASSASSINATION in Switzerland of Wilhelm Gustloff, Nazi propaganda agent, by David Frankfurter, a young Jew, is unfortunate for the 600,000 Jews in Germany, already objects of race persecution.
After killing Gustloff, Nazi organizer of anti-Semitic hatred in foreign countries, Frankfurter surrendered, admitting the killing, regretting that he had not been able to kill Hitler himself.
Jews in Germany, who have shown marvelous patience and endurance under persecution, are now accused by German newspapers of "subversive atrocity work, endangering world peace."

WHEN COMMODORE PERRY entered a harbor of Japan that hitherto had not welcomed strangers, no Japanese reporters met him. If one had said to Commodore Perry, "Soon we shall be getting news from Europe by wires under the water, radio without wires through the air, and flying ships bringing photographs," Commodore Perry would have said, "These people are crazy."
But Publisher M. Shoriki, of the Yomiuri Shimbun, able Tokyo newspaper, will send photographs of 1936 Olympics from Berlin to Tokyo by airplane.
Congratulations to Mr. Shoriki and the Yomiuri.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN, always a hard worker, says: "If you destroy the leisure class, you destroy civilization."
He may be right, although those that started civilization, 1,000,000 years ago, had no leisure class. According to reports, Mr. Morgan includes in the leisure class any family keeping "a hired girl."
There is a super-leisure class that keeps twenty hired girls and as many hired men, just as there are 16-cylinder super-automobiles.
A Greek philosopher said slavery must remain, because without it there could be no leisure class.

consequently no philosophical class. Machinery took the place of slaves. Perhaps something will take the place of what we call civilization.

THE NEW KING of England, sound young business man, "best salesman for the British Empire," puts his court in mourning for nine months, but says he wants London to have a gay season, with entertainments, "as usual."
This would please the late king, who always promoted the prosperity of English tradesmen.

RUSSIA ALSO believes in business as usual, upholds the League of Nations stand against Italy, and is selling more oil to Italy than any other country.

FLYING MAY become too complicated for the uneducated pilot. England announces improved "blind flying" with the aid of the cathode ray. The pilot with a map before him would follow a thin point of light moving on the map, showing the pilot his exact location at all times.

ATHENS LEARNS that if sanctions should bring war, British planes "would defend Greece." They might, but all British planes might possibly be needed over London, Manchester, Liverpool and other home spots. The wise nation prepares to defend itself.

WASHINGTON'S statement that talk of "inflation" is not to be taken seriously, delights those who value sound money, even when it is all paper. But when the sound money is all spent, what is to be done? Lincoln printed new money, which turned out to be sound.

We have one consolation, if inflation should come.
When other countries, France under Napoleon, Germany recently, resorted to inflation, those countries were practically bankrupt. This country is still the richest in the world, we have simply run out of "loose change."

Woman, 33, Released From Darkened Room Where She Was Held 22 Years

(By Associated Press)
McKENDREE, W. Va., Feb. 7.—An emaciated, 33-year-old woman who police say was locked in her darkened room 22 years, ate ravenously in a state hospital today but refused to talk to anyone.
The only thing she has said since State Trooper O. R. Kincaid found her yesterday was:
"Indeed, the food is good."

Broke Down Door
State Trooper Kincaid took the woman, Dama Coleman, from the home of Mrs. Minnie Coleman, 62, her mother, after battering down the door of their mountain shack.
Cardboard had been nailed over the windows of the daughter's room, and the blinds were tacked to the casings.

Kincaid said neighbors told him the daughter came to live with her mother at the age of 11 and never had been seen since. Before, she lived with an uncle.

The mother faces a lunacy hearing tomorrow. She is in jail.
Dr. R. D. Hatfield said he believes the daughter is normal mentally. He added:
"She is in bad physical condition, mostly from malnutrition. She doesn't weigh over 80 pounds."
"Her eyes are bad, and she can't see in the light."

"But when we try to find out how long she has been confined in the room, she shuts up like a clam, will say nothing."
Governor H. G. Lump ordered an investigation of the house after receiving a complaint from Mrs. Coleman's neighbors that they believed the woman was keeping her daughter prisoner.

OHIO EDISON CO. RURAL AND SUBURBAN RATE

"GOING DOWN"

... USE YOUR FREE ELECTRICITY!

And THEN YOU WILL BE PLEASED TO LEARN THAT ANOTHER MONEY-SAVING OPPORTUNITY IS AVAILABLE
Because WHEN YOU USE MORE ELECTRICITY YOUR ENTIRE BILL WILL AUTOMATICALLY BE FIGURED ON THE NEW LOW OBJECTIVE RATE

EXPLANATION:

The base bill (Immediate Rate) is a reduction from the old rate. The amount of Electric current used during each month of 1935 is used to determine the base (the base already established for customers in Salem, Lisbon and Leetonia will be used) but the base bill is figured on the new IMMEDIATE RATE which is an immediate reduction, and also provides for FREE ELECTRICITY — then when you use all your FREE Electricity and more you automatically receive another reduction in that your entire bill will be figured on the new low Objective Rate.

So, if you have been thinking of utilizing more of the modern Electrical appliances to shift part of the burden of home-making to Electrical servants, do it now. These new low rates that step down rapidly make it possible to operate that wished for range, refrigerator, washing machine, or milk cooler at surprisingly little additional cost. The greater your use of Electricity the less you pay for the added current.

THE MORE YOU USE ELECTRICITY THE LESS YOU PAY FOR ADDED CURRENT

FOR ALL OVER 200 KW-HRS.

A Fourth of July rodeo in a western town is an interesting part of "The Throwback." Buck Jones last western, to be shown at the Grand tonight and tomorrow. Muriel Evans plays opposite the cowboy.

Son of Cattle Thief
In the earlier scenes of the picture Buck is seen as a young school boy among the other children who in later years play such an important part in his life. When Buck's father is slain by the sheriff the boy learns that he is the son of a cattle thief and sadly leaves his ranch and goes many miles away. Fifteen years later he returns to his home where he is received with coldness and suspicion. A rodeo is in progress and Jones enters the steeplechase for cowboys with his famous white horse Silver. Even a quickly formed plot by his enemies does not prevent Jones from winning the race and the $500 prize money.

However, Jones is disqualified on a trumped up charge and Buck is outraged at the injustice of the whole affair. From then on he begins a campaign to turn the tables on his enemies and his efforts and the trouble he gets into make up the drama of the film.

"Ceiling Zero"
"Ceiling Zero," a picture dealing with commercial mail and passenger service of the air, starring James Cagney and Pat O'Brien, will be shown at the State tonight and tomorrow. Cagney, O'Brien and Stuart Erwin have the roles of three war buddies who have turned to commercial flying. Cagney is the devil-may-care, stunting, irresponsible member of the trio, with O'Brien as the superintendent and Erwin a steady dependable pilot. June Travis plays an air hostess with whom Cagney is in love. Isabel Jewel is Stuart Erwin's wife. Barton MacLane, number 1 bad man of the screen, plays the big boss of the airport where the three buddies work. Others in the cast are Martha Thibetis, Craig Reynolds, Edward Grogan and Pat West. Howard Hawks directed the production.

Saxons To Entertain Cleveland East Five At Memorial Building

Saxons Have Possible Chance For League Title By Going Through Remainder of Their Schedule Undefeated

Meeting Cleveland East in a Saxon league game at the Memorial building Saturday night, Coach Pete Sanders' Salem Saxons will be making their next to last home appearance of the current basketball season.

A contest with Canton at the Memorial building Feb. 22 is the final game for the Saxon quintet.

Tied for the top position in the western half of the Saxon league with Youngstown and Canton, the Saxons, defending champions of the loop, are offered an opportunity to again annex the title if they go through the remainder of their schedule undefeated.

Canton, who was up until last week undefeated and leading the league, was forced to drop into a third place when it suffered a defeat at the hands of the Youngstown Saxons.

Saturday's contest, their seventh, will be a return engagement for the Saxons, who had previously defeated Canton, 24, earlier in the season.

The previous tilt the Salem Saxons had little trouble in registering the victory on a foreign floor on the basis of past performance, they should have even less trouble in defeating the Cleveland Saxons.

The Saxons have won six and lost one of their games.

Winners over East girls, 39 to 16, in their previous tussle, the Salem Saxons are undefeated in five games.

The regular dance and banquet for the visiting team will be held at the Saxon hall following the contest. The dance is open to the public.

ARGUMENTS MAR OLYMPIC GAMES

British Threaten To Withdraw From Competition

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 7.—The United States Olympic athletes and officials for the winter games again found sources of dissatisfaction to start squabbles.

At Lake Placid in 1932, arguments arose about the bob sled run. European racers, accustomed to the snow runs, sought to have the course made slower while the Americans fought for the speedy and dangerous glare ice. Before there was the famous 1928 dispute about the cancelling of the 200 meter speed skating events, Mr. Moritz when the American, Irving Jaffee, was leading on the track.

Two Disputes Already

Two big disputes already have arisen in the 1936 winter games. One is the controversy between Great Britain and Canada over the eligibility of two British hockey players; the other concerns the conditions of the bob and in particular whether American sleds are likely to be made it.

Because of the banning of the James Foster and Alexander, a wingman, who transferred from Canada to England with receiving permission from the Canadian Amateur Hockey association, England has threatened to withdraw its team from the ice hockey competition.

The dispute among the bobsleds on the question of whether narrow, sharp runners of the sleds might damage the ice in a series of accidents at the half-pin Bavaria curve has caused fresh trouble.

CLAIMS LIQUOR GIVEN PLAYERS

Wisconsin Trainer Tells Of Mixing Brandy and Coffee for Team

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 7.—University of Wisconsin Regents turned to Dr. Clarence W. Spears today for his defense against testimony that he ordered liquor for football players and used injured men on the field.

At the second hearing into the tangled athletic situation at the university by five man regents' committee, Trainer William J. Fallon said yesterday that head Coach Spears instructed him to mix liquor and coffee for a stimulant during the 1932 Minnesota game.

Brandy Served

Fallon said a brandy and coffee mixture was ordered by Spears before last season's Northwestern game to supplant the usual orange juice and sugar.

Two staff members at Wisconsin general hospital told the regents the liquor was purchased through them and recorded at the institution as "special stimulating liniment."

Dr. Lowell Cole, who attended football men, said Spears summoned injured players from the infirmary for drinks and put two men in games despite the doctor's recommendations that they remain on the bench.

Spears was described by basketball Coach Harold Foster as offering "unasked for advice" about basketball. Foster said he was not intimate with Spears and had nothing against him.

PHILADELPHIA—Wesley Ramey, 135½, outpointed Johnny Lucas, 140½, Camden, N. J., (10); Jackie Willis, 137, Philadelphia, outpointed Stumpy Jacobs, 139, Norfolk, Va., (8); Johnny Marcelline, 115½, Philadelphia, stopped Danny O'Donnell, 115½, Philadelphia, (3).

PATERSON, N. J.—Howard Clark, 145, New York, outpointed Eddie Ran, 149, Poland, (8).

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—Turf rivalry between Discovery, 1935 champion, and Cavalcade, the 1934 champion, will be renewed at Santa Anita track tomorrow with the running of the $7,500 added San Antonio handicap.

Discovery, winner of the San Carlos handicap last Saturday will carry top weight of 138 pounds, eight more pounds than he carried in romping home last week five lengths ahead of the nearest competitor on a muddy track.

Cavalcade was named today as a certain starter by Trainer Robert Smith.

Paul (Not So Daffy) Dean Says Modestly, 'I Deserve More Pay'

GARLAND, Tex., Feb. 7.—Paul (Not So Daffy) Dean leaned against a plow on his farm where today and allowed his pitching arm never felt better—and consequently was worth more.

The younger brother of Jerome (Dizzy) Dean definitely announced that his efforts this season were going to cost the St. Louis Cardinals considerable more dollars.

"I haven't gotten my contract yet," said Daffy, "but it's gonna have to be bigger than it was last year. They tell me I'm too young to be making so much money. Well, I'm old enough to win a danged lot of ball games for 'em."

"I told 'em"

"Last year they told me that a young player never came to the big leagues and made more in two years than I did. You know what I told 'em? I told 'em they never had any Paul Deans up there before."

Modestly, Paul gave "Diz" most of the credit for the success of the Dean and Dean combine.

"I haven't heard from Diz lately but I know he'll be asking for a big raise in salary. Gosh, Diz is worth $40,000 to the Cards, or any other ball club. If they ever lost him they'd just have to shut the ball park gates."

"Say, did you hear that fellow on the radio the other night rank some of the country's big men? Well, he had President Roosevelt first, of course, and Diz in fourth place. That was swell—only fourth is a little low for Diz."

Cards Will Win Flag

Between the squealing of pigs and the mooing of cows on his 80-acre farm, Daffy suggested the Cards could start hoisting the pennant some any time now, with Chicago, New York and Pittsburgh looking on from first division berths.

Frankie Frisch is the smartest man in baseball," quoth Farmer Dean. "He'll bring us in all right. I see where Diz says he's good for 26 games this year. I tell you, Diz could win 30 and maybe more."

"I won't say exactly how many I'm gonna win but I'll be trying for all of 'em. It should be better than the 19 games I won last year."

CAGE CARNIVAL OPENS TONIGHT

Althouse Motoirs Five Plays Warren Team In Main Fray

With a contest between the Althouse Motors' quintet and the Thomas-Steele cagers of Warren as the main attraction, three games will be played at the Memorial building tonight inaugurating the basketball carnivals which will be staged, one each week, from now until the close of the season.

The other two frays tonight will send the Salem Pennzill lasses against the Riggs-La-Mar girls of Akron and the Trojan basketballers of the Class A city league against the East Palestine Ex-Highs.

The Warren team, billed to meet the Althouse quintet, is one of the leaders in the Ohio-Pennsylvania Class A league and composed of ex-college stars.

Salem Pennzill lasses, who suffered their second defeat of the season Wednesday night at Pittsburgh, face one of the strongest girl teams in Ohio in their tussle with the Riggs-La-Mar combine.

The Trojans will be playing a return engagement with the East Palestine Ex-Highs whom they defeated earlier this week.

The first contest, between the Trojans and Palestine, will get under way at 7 p. m. with the girls game to follow at 8 p. m. and the headline fray at 9 p. m.

Patty Berg Near Tourney Finals

GOLF'S Latest Sensation To Play Mrs. Opan Hill In Semi-Final Match

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 7.—Stocky little Patty Berg, golf's latest sensation, today found stalwart Mrs. Opan Hill disputing her right to a finals berth in the Miami Biltmore women's tournament.

Matched in the other semi-finals after yesterday's double eliminations were Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews, Miami ace, and Miss Marion Miley, sterling young campaigner from Lexington, Ky.

Always a strong contender, Mrs. Hill's record of five strokes under women's par for the 36-holes has played in eliminating three opponents indicated she was at the top of her game.

The 17-year-old Minneapolis school girl was expected to need all her brilliance and courage to justify her favorite's ranking with a victory over the Kansas City veteran.

Germany Protests American Victory

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—America's opening Olympic hockey victory over Germany drew criticism today from Herman Kleeberg German hockey leader.

In an interview published in German papers, Kleeberg called the match "irregular."

"It's a pity the game ended irregularly," Kleeberg said. "Judge Loico of Belgium had proposed an interruption on account of the heavy snow fall. The Germans agreed but the American manager, Walter Brown, protested because the Americans had an advantage of one goal with prospects that snow would make scoring impossible for the Germans."

MAJOR LEAGUE HEAVY HITTERS IN LEFT FIELD

No Other Position Seems To Carry So Much Clouting Ability

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—A big chunk of the batting power being sought by major league ball clubs for the coming pennant push should be generated by the broad-shouldered boys of the left field patrol. Outside of first base, no other position seems to carry so much clouting ability.

Among the National League's guardians of left field there are such lead-off hitters as Joe Moore of the New York Giants and Forrest Jensen of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and such cleaner-uppers as Joe Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals, Babe Herman of the Cincinnati Reds and George Watkins of the Phillies.

All except Watkins were in the 300 class most of last season. Medwick at 353 was the runner-up to shortstop Arky Vaughan of the Pirates for league batting honors.

In American League ranks there's an equally potent crew, led by Cleveland's Joe Voss, who had the batting crown apparently all wrapped up last September, until Buddy Myer of the Senators came along and snatched it away by a one-point margin.

The New York Yankees probably will install Roy Johnson, obtained by way of Washington, in left field. This will depend, however, upon what Joe Di Maggio, the rambunctious rookie, shows in training camp. Joe is arguing with the Yankees about salary while the experts argue over his best spot in the outfield. After all the debate is over, Di Maggio may wind up on the bench.

Another Group of 20 Heavyweights Will Battle In Chicago Stadium Tonight

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Another group of 20 heavyweights will be dumped into the "white hope" mill at the Chicago stadium tonight.

The collection of candidates who aspire to become threats to Joe Louis' peace of mind have been divided up to provide ten bouts at five rounds each. Some of the big youngsters have appeared in one or more of the four previous installments of the tournament, while a few will be on display for the first time in Chicago.

Among the latter are Bob Tow of Alexandria, Va., one of Jack Kearns' stable of hopes, and Max Zona, who is being directed in the wars by Floyd Fitzsimmons, Benton Harbor, Mich., promoter.

Tow will tackle Harry Nelson of Detroit, Zona, a Chicago youth, meets Tom Baxter of Buffalo, N. Y. Buddy Knox of Dayton, O., is paired up with Dick Madden of Boston, in another of the headliners.

"HIGH SCHOOL TRAGEDY"

by MAXINE CANTY

SYNOPSIS

Julie Martin, at 17, becomes an "inside" observer of the police investigation of the murder of her former French teacher, the pretty Constance "Connie" Sinclair who was shot dead in her apartment by a party thus far unknown. Julie is on the "inside" because after school hours she is office assistant to Principal Perkins and the latter has detailed her as stenographer for Police Inspector O'Brien, who is busy examining suspects and others. Among those questioned, or wanted for questioning, are Julie herself and her boy friend, Dicky Ward, who was with her when she returned a pen to "Connie" a few hours before the tragedy; Mrs. Sardon, manager of the apartment house in which "Connie" was killed; Principal Perkins, Melvin Wright, the school's "problem boy"; Hym, a Filipino janitor, who had been discharged for insolence to "Connie" and who was missing since her death; Bruce Lloyd, her former fiancé, who refuses to say where he was on the murder night; and George Carrington, also reported to be a former suitor, who is now married. The latter seems to have a perfect alibi for the fatal night but he admits to the police that his wife has been missing since that evening. Julie's father has become counsel for Lloyd. The authorities are anxious to find Mrs. Carrington. Meanwhile Inspector O'Brien urges Julie to keep her eyes and ears open but her mouth shut tight. He appoints her his confidential assistant at the high school, laughingly calling himself "Sherlock Holmes" O'Brien and Julie, his "charming Miss Watson." Dicky Ward is jealous of the handsome Bruce Lloyd, who is invited to the Martin home for dinner, immediately after which all present are stirred by the news that Hym the Filipino has been found in San Francisco. Julie continues her own "inside" story:

CHAPTER IX

The newspapers made a lot of Hym's story. They almost convicted him on the spot. Part of the attitude, I suppose can be attributed to the general prejudice against Orientals, part of it to the natural distrust of other races and people whose skins are of another color. Most of it probably was because of some mysterious cult murders that had recently taken place near Stockton, committed by Filipinos; in one of these messy affairs a woman was buried alive. All that was recalled by the press as Hym's story was told.

Hym was a harmless, insignificant little man of a deep tan hue, a negroid, flat nose, and small, hard eyes. The reporter who described him said that the Oriental never looked one in the eye, that he kept his head down most of the time, or cringed in his chair, and was reluctant to answer questions. He spoke very good English, however, and seemed proud of his American education. It was clear that he resented any assumption of superiority on the part of his white inquisitors.

Along with this last remark went a recounting of Mrs. Sardon's story of Miss Sinclair's reporting him to her for impertinence, and her giving him notice to leave the first of November. Hym's story really started here. It seems he determined to call on Miss Sinclair the night of October 20th, asking her to do what she could to reinstate him with Mrs. Sardon. He seemed to be desperately in need of retaining his job. He paddled up the back service stairs to the second floor in his soft leather slippers. As he opened the door leading on to the floor, he saw Miss Sardon and Miss Whelton standing in Miss Sinclair's doorway. So he backed out onto the landing and returned to the basement. Three times he tried to see her but she seemed to have company each time. The last time he waited on the landing a moment but hearing no voices, approached her door.

"What time was this?" the inspector had asked. "Nine-fifteen—no, nine-thirty." "All right, then what?" "I knock." "Yes." "No answer." "Then what?" "I knock again." "Yes?" "Still no answer. But there is a light. I know she is there." "So what did you do?" "Well, I am afraid that Mrs. Sardon heard me and came up. She heard everything, that woman. I fear she saw me she fire me that night." "So what did you do?"

Hym never looked one in the eye; he kept his head down most of the time, or cringed in his chair . . . denying his guilt

"I try the door. It is unlocked. I push on it a little, saying 'Miss Sinclair' as I do it."

"Did she answer?" "No. She is dead."

From there on the police had to work hard to get more information. But they finally succeeded in establishing Hym's knowledge of some of the details they themselves had found when they examined the room. The paper I read gave a very vivid picture of the Filipino's black eyes peering around the half-opened door and what he said his shocked vision recorded.

A soft green reading lamp lighted the scene. Directly in line with his gaze was the desk on which it stood and before which Miss Sinclair was sitting when she was shot. She was wearing the jade-green pajamas as described before, embroidered in gold, with a gold-colored Mandarin coat over them. She had slumped forward over the desk, her arms sprawled across it, her face turned toward Hym, half-covered by her bright hair. The front of the pajamas was stained with blood, and her state was that of death.

The Filipino boy did not move or cry; he just stood there, in the same position Connie's murderer must have stood, while the meaning of what he saw sunk into his mind. Then he turned, slipped noiselessly down the stairs, got shoes, hat, and coat, and left for San Francisco.

"Why didn't you call Mrs. Sardon?" "I was afraid."

"Of what?" "White man always suspect Filipino. I go away. I have nothing to do with it."

"Did you call us from San Francisco?" "No."

Hours of harsh questioning could elicit nothing more that night. He insisted upon his own innocence, reiterating that he did not make the telephone call from San Francisco. He did not remember whether Miss Sinclair was holding a fountain pen or not. He had heard no unusual noise previous to his call upon her. The idea that the murderer might have been there just before he arrived, or even might have been concealing himself or herself in the apartment during his few moments there, seemed to frighten him.

Two bits of information were established. She was dead by 9:30. The other was that Hym was sure he had left the door ajar. Yet it was closed when the police arrived. The question uppermost in their minds was: Who had closed that door?

The family did not have much opportunity to discuss the new angles of the case brought up by Hym's testimony because Allen was getting so upset and nervous over the whole affair that Mother forbade any talk about it. Dad and I knew she meant it, too. We had a few minutes, however, after Allen went to the library the evening following Bruce's visit. Dad told us then that Mr. Lloyd was still in town.

"I think he will be here for a while. The Inspector is getting rather worked up over this case because it has been so puzzling. He has determined to investigate every possibility that turns up. Right now he is hot on Lloyd's trail, and he has dug up quite a bit of information. In fact, I think he would like to keep him in jail."

"Why Dad? They can't can they?"

"Well, legal technicalities are flexible things. I suppose he could. But O'Brien has compromised by agreeing that I should ask Lloyd to stay with us for a few days. An officer will watch him constantly, no doubt; I think the young man so strong that I forgot Dad was telling us inside news. I came to in time to hear mother say, "He seems to be such a nice young man."

"Even nice young men make telephone calls, Fredericka." "But not to girls who are murdered the next night!" (To Be Continued)
